

John David (J.D.) Taliaferro is a lifelong Virginian and married to Carey. They have four children: Madelyn, Pierson, Isabel and Julia. Having been raised in a Christian home JD came to personal faith in Christ through the witness of his parents and place his faith in Christ when he was in the 7th grade. During his college years at Virginia Tech, JD's faith deepened through attending Bible studies and personal discipleship. JD and Carey have attended Immanuel since 2005. JD formerly served as president of the Teammates ABF and currently is a member of Teammates teaching team, but his proudest achievement is serving as a K-Station teacher for two years. JD looks forward to serving on the Immanuel Christian School council and continuing to serve on the ICS School Board and Teammates teaching team. As vocation, JD is an attorney in private practice in Washington DC. Carey teaches at Immanuel Christian school, where all of their children attend school.

Dan Crabtree grew up at Immanuel Bible Church with his loving parents, Brent and Marty, and older brother Tim. He learned to love the church from a young age and began serving on staff at IBC as early as his high school years. But God did not save him from his sins and show him the beauty of Christ until after his prodigal college years. At the age of 23, Pastor Jesse sat down with Dan and explained to him the transforming power of the gospel, and the Lord called Dan to himself. After his conversion, Dan began serving in the high school ministry in earnest, discipling students musically and spiritually.

He began to discern that the Lord was calling him into full time vocational ministry and applied to seminary. During that season, God brought Darlene into Dan's life. They dated and were married, then Dan began classes at The Master's Seminary while serving as the Director of Jr. High Ministry.

After moving out to California in pursuit of his seminary degree, Dan and Darlene moved back to Northern Virginia so that Dan could serve on staff as the College Ministry Director at IBC.

Shortly thereafter, the Lord gifted Dan and Darlene with a baby boy, Daniel, who is now a year and a half old. Dan completed his Masters of Divinity degree this past May and continues to serve in the College and Young Adult Ministry with his wife. They are passionate about bringing the hope of Jesus and his gospel to college campuses in our area and to see college students disciplined to love and serve Christ and his church.
